PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITY AND PARENTAL ORDERS

9A Parental responsibility for children

- (1) If a child's mother and father were married to, or civil partners of, each other at the time of the child's birth, they each have parental responsibility for the child.
- (2) If a child's mother and father were not married to, nor civil partners of, each other at the time of the child's birth –
 - (a) the mother has parental responsibility for the child; and
 - (b) the father does not have parental responsibility for the child, unless he acquires it in accordance with Article 9C.

- (6) More than one person may have parental responsibility for the same child at the same time.
- (7) A person who has parental responsibility for a child at any time does not cease to have that responsibility solely because another person subsequently acquires parental responsibility for the child.
- (8) If more than one person has parental responsibility for a child, each of them may act alone and without the other (or others) in meeting that responsibility.

- (9) Nothing in this Part is to be taken to affect the operation of an enactment that requires the consent of more than one person in a matter affecting the child.
- (10) The fact that a person has parental responsibility for a child does not entitle the person to act in a way that would be incompatible with an order made with respect to the child under this Law.
- (11) A person who has parental responsibility for a child may not surrender or transfer any part of that responsibility to another, but may arrange for some or all of it to be met by one or more people acting on the person's behalf.
- (12) Paragraph (11) does not prevent the making of an adoption order, a parental order or a recognition order.
- (13) The person with whom an arrangement under paragraph (11) is made may be a person who already has parental responsibility for the child concerned.
- (14) The making of an arrangement under paragraph (11) does not affect any liability of the person making it that may arise from a failure to meet any part of the person's parental responsibility for the child concerned.

9B Person without parental responsibility

- (1) The fact that a person has, or does not have, parental responsibility for a child does not affect –

9C Acquisition of parental responsibility by father

- (1) If a child's father and mother are neither married to, nor civil partners of, each other at the time of the child's birth –
 - (a) subject to paragraph (2), the father has parental responsibility for the child if he becomes registered as the child's father under Part 5 of the Civil Status Law;

- (a) parent A or, if any other person has parental responsibility for the child, all of those people, may by agreement with the step-parent provide for the step-parent to have parental responsibility for the child; or

9G Parental orders

- (1) A parental order is an order made by the court conferring parental responsibility for a child on the applicant.

- (2) If a parental order is made, the child who is the subject of the order is to be treated in law, from the time that the order is made, as the child of the applicant and not of any other person.
- (3) But paragraph (2) does not affect entitlement to property that is dependent upon the biological relationship between the child who is the subject of the order and an applicant for the order, or anything else dependent on that relationship.
- (4) The making of a parental order extinguishes –
 - (a) the parental responsibility that anyone has, immediately before the making of the order, in relation to the child who is the subject of the order;
 - (b) every order under this Law, unless the court otherwise orders; and
 - (c) every duty arising under an agreement or an order of the court to make payments in respect of the child's maintenance or upbringing for any period after the making of the parental order.
- (5) Paragraph (4)(c) does not apply to a duty arising under an agreement that –
 - (a) constitutes a trust; or
 - (b) expressly provides that the duty is not to be extinguished by the making of a parental order.
- (6) If 2 people are named in a parental order as the parents of the child, the child is to be treated in law as the issue of their relationship.
- (7) A parental order does not affect parental responsibility so far as it relates to a period before the making of the order.

9H Amendment of parental order

- (1) The court may amend a parental order by the correction of an error in the particulars contained in the order, on application by a person who applied for the order, or who is the subject of the order.
- (2) The court may also amend a parental order, by substituting or adding a name, if paragraph (3) applies.
- (3) On the application of a person who is named in a parental order, the court may amend that parental order if the court is satisfied that, within one year beginning with the date of the birth of the person who is the subject of the order ("S") –
 - (a) a new name has been given to S whether in baptism or otherwise; or
 - (b) a new name has been given to S instead of, or in addition to, a name entered in the Parental Orders Register under Schedule 1A to the Civil Status Order.
- (4) Paragraph (5) applies if –
 - (a) a parental order includes a direction for the marking of an entry in the register of births as required under Article 61B(5) of the Civil Status Law; and
 - (b) a person who was a party to the proceedings in which the parental order was made, or a person who has the leave of the court, applies for the revocation of the direction.
- (5) The court may revoke the direction referred to in paragraph (4) if the court is satisfied that the direction was wrongly included in the parental order.
- (6) If a parental order is amended under paragraph (3) or a direction is revoked under paragraph (5), the Judicial Greffier must, as soon as is reasonably practicable, cause the amendment or revocation to be communicated to the Superintendent Registrar, who must –

- (a) cause the entry in the Parental Orders Register to be amended; or
 - (b) cause the marking of the entry in the register of births to be cancelled.
- (7) In this Article “Parental Orders Register”, “register of births” and “Superintendent Registrar” have the meaning given to those terms in the Civil Status Law.

9I Application for parental order

- (1) An application for a parental order must be made in the prescribed manner.
- (2) A parental order may be made only if –

 - (ii) the applicant, or, in the case of a joint application at least one of the applicants, is domiciled in Jersey; and
 - (g) no other parental order has been made in relation to the child, unless that order has been quashed or an appeal against the order has been allowed.
- (3) In the case of a joint application, at the time the application is made, the applicants must be –
 - (a) spouses or civil partners of each other; or
 - (b) in an enduring family relationship with each other.
- (4) The reference in paragraph (3)(b) to an enduring family relationship does not include one in which one of the people in it is within a prohibited degree of relationship in relation to the other for the purposes of the Civil Status Law.
- (5) Before making a parental order, the court must be satisfied that each of the following have freely and unconditionally consented to the making of the order, with full understanding of what is involved –
 - (a) the surrogate mother; and
 - (b) every other parent of the child who is not one of the applicants (including a man who is the father under Circumstance A or Circumstance B, and a woman who is the second parent under Circumstance C or Circumstance D).
- (6) For the purposes of paragraph (5) –
 - (a) the consent of the surrogate mother is ineffective if given in the first 6 weeks after the birth; and

- (b) the requirement for a person's consent does not apply if that person is incapable of giving consent or cannot be found.

 - (c) handing the child over to the applicant; or
 - (d) making arrangements with a view to obtaining the order.
- (8) Paragraph (7) does not apply if the payment of money or the conferment of the benefit is authorised by the court.
- (9) This paragraph applies if, after a surrogacy arrangement is made, one of the parties to the surrogacy arrangement who is, or is intended to be, an applicant for a parental order in respect of the child dies before the parental order is made.
- (10) If paragraph (9) applies this Article is to be read –
 - (a) with the following modifications –
 - (i) for paragraph (2)(e) there is substituted –
 - “(e) the surviving applicant is at least 18 years old when the order is made, and the applicant who has died would, but for their death, have been at least 18 when the order is made;”;
 - (ii) for paragraph (3) there is substituted –
 - “(3) The applicants must have been spouses or civil partners of each other, or in an enduring family relationship with each other, immediately before the death of one of the parties to the surrogacy arrangement.”; and
 - (b) as if references in this Article to the applicants are taken to include –
 - (i) a person whom the court is satisfied would have been one of the applicants had they not died before the making of the application, and
 - (ii) an applicant who died before the making of the order.

9J When court may not make a parental order

- (a) when refusing the previous application, the court directed that this Article was not to apply; or
- (b) the court is satisfied that, by reason of a change in the applicant's circumstances, or any other reason that appears to the court to be sufficient, it is proper to hear the application.

 - (a) the applicant;
 - (b) the person who is the subject of the parental order ("S"); or
 - (c) any other person.
- (2) The property referred to in paragraph (1) devolves in all respects as if S were the child of the applicant and not the child of another person.
- (3) For the purposes of the law relating to the indefeasible right of a person to succeed to the movable property of the person's ascendants, S is taken to be the child of the applicant and not the child of another person.
- (4) In a disposition of immovable or movable property made, whether by instrument inter vivos or by will (including codicil), after the date of a parental order, unless a contrary intention appears, a reference (express or implied) in the instrument or will –
 - (a) to the child of the applicant for the order, is to be construed as, or as including, a reference to S;
 - (b) to the child of a surrogate mother is to be construed as not being, or as not including, a reference to S; and
 - (c) to a person related to S in any degree is to be construed as a reference to the person who would be related to S in that degree if S were the natural child of the applicant and not the child of another person.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4), a disposition made by will or codicil is to be treated as made on the date of the death of the testator.
- (6) If S is born before a natural child, S ranks as principal heir in preference to the natural child.
- (7) In the application of the law regarding the devolution of acquired immovable property (acquêts) and movable property (meubles), and for the purposes of the construction of a disposition of the property referred to in paragraph (4), S is treated as related to a child or adopted child of the applicant –
 - (a) as brother or sister of the whole blood if the parental order was made in favour of 2 spouses or civil partners jointly, or in favour of 2 persons living in an enduring family relationship jointly, and that other person is the child or adopted child of both of them;

- (b) in any other case, as brother or sister of the half-blood.
- (8) Despite anything in this Article, an executor of the will or an administrator of the estate of a deceased person –
 - (a) may distribute movable property to or among the people entitled to that property without having established whether a parental order has been made by virtue of which any person is, or may be, entitled to an interest in that property; and
 - (b) is not liable to a person of whose claim the executor of the will or the administrator of the estate has not had notice at the time of the distribution.
- (9) Nothing in paragraph (8) affects the right of a person claiming to be entitled to an interest as mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) of that paragraph to follow such property, or any property representing it, into the hands of a person who may have acquired it by devolution or descent.

- (3) If an application is made under paragraph (2), the court must make a recognition order unless –
 - (a) the court would have refused to make a parental order under Article 9G if the applicant had applied for such an order at the time the relevant order was made; or
 - (b) it would be manifestly contrary to public policy to make a recognition order.
- (4) The child who is the subject of the recognition order is to be treated in law as having become the issue of the applicant on the date on which the relevant order was made.
- (5) Before making a recognition order, the court may require an applicant to provide such evidence as it considers necessary to determine the application.
- (6) As soon as reasonably practicable after a recognition order is made, the Judicial Greffier must cause the order to be sent to the Superintendent Registrar.
